
Marta Wosinska

Chief Healthcare Economist
Office of Inspector General
Department of Health and Human Services

Marta Wosinska is Chief Healthcare Economist at the Office of Inspector General (OIG) at HHS. In her role, she advises the Inspector General and other senior OIG officials in fulfilling OIG's broad HHS oversight mission by providing specialized expertise in economics.

Prior to her engagement with OIG, Dr. Wosinska headed the Economics Staff at the Office of Strategic Programs in FDA's Center for Drug Evaluation and Research (CDER) and advised senior CDER leadership in development of policy decisions. During her FDA tenure, she also served as a Senior Economic Advisor to the Deputy Commissioner for Medical Product and Tobacco.

Before entering public service, Dr. Wosinska was an Assistant Professor of Marketing at the Harvard Business School, where her academic research focused on prescription drug marketing. Dr. Wosinska was also a visiting Assistant Professor at Columbia Business School where she developed and taught Healthcare Marketing and Marketing of Pharmaceuticals and Medical Devices. Dr. Wosinska received her PhD in economics from University of California at Berkeley and a bachelor's degree from Arizona State University.

(Updated December 2016)

